Introducing Jivy Edge

After-School-Academic-Enrichment
Addressing a need-gap

“Educators understand that every student is unique; yet differentiation is difficult to implement and follow through, despite best strategies and intent.”

Many students need a structured after-school-support to reach their full potential. However...

"Within classroom, my child does not like to be signaled out as belonging to support group or different-ability hierarchy": Parent A, during research.

"I can't help my child because of time constraint, although I know she is struggling in English writing": Parent B during research.

"I tried to help using the internet but takes a lot of time to get what you are looking for. I spend 2 hours in traffic ferrying my child to an after school tutor for Math": Parent C, during research.

"The school does have homework club but my daughter is very tired and hungry immediately after school. Wish there was someone to help her later in the evening": Parent D, during research.

Jivy Edge

In partnership with innovative schools
Enriching school community

Joinlvy collaborates with your school to provide personalized learning to your students, with involvement of your teachers. Qualitative research of the idea met with approval by both teachers and parents.

School's Role

- Based on need assessment for your school, identify subjects and possible courses for every grade.
- Invite teachers who may be willing to conduct these courses.
- Collaborate with Joinlvy team for course selection, teaching and promotional materials.
- Teachers indicate their preferred schedule and Jivy Edge to manage scheduling, technology training and other aspects.

Research Findings

"It's a great idea. I have some time over the weekends to help students". Teacher A

"Many teachers take extra lessons surreptitiously. It is better if it is formalised, especially for female staff who have less manouverability". Teacher B

"My son does have free time and spends it on gaming! This program will help him learn something under a good teacher". Parent X

"My son is shy in class. Can't clarify his doubts. I can't help him in English. This program will be good". Parent Y

"My daughter is scared of writing. Some extra help after school will be useful, especially if she can learn from home." Parent Z

Jivy Edge

Benefits for Students and Parents

- Access to qualified teachers - teachers who know their children well and offer continuity vis-a-vis school. Does away with the hassle of trying out various teachers to suit the child. Avoid stress of traffic.

- Convenient and Relaxed Learning Support - the child need not stay back in school or be pulled out for support. Learning support is more fruitful when a child is more relaxed and rested, after school. Option to reschedule a lesson at short notice is convenient.

- Students are more engaged when the course is designed according to their needs and adapted as per their interest and ability. Option to learn one-on-one or in small similar ability group removes stress.

- Periodic progress and satisfaction tracking assure parents and give direction to the child.

- Access to self-learning materials and an extensive quiz module. Courses for parents and siblings, leading to community inclusion in learning.

Jivy Edge

Benefits for School and Teachers

- Be a pioneer in leveraging technology towards differentiation and inclusion.
- Provide opportunity to delve deeper in concepts, thereby enhancing academic performance of students and reputation of school.
- Opportunity to introduce value-added courses thereby facilitating enrichment of school community.
- Additional income, for both teachers and school, while adding value to the school community.
- Opportunity for teachers to teach, design and deliver creative courses, which are otherwise not possible due to constraints of time and curriculum.
- Greater inflow of ideas by participation of parents.
- Be a role model by going green.
